COLLIERS WEEKLY

Of all Weekly Papers there must be one which is the best; Collier's Weekly is that one

It is made by a combination of the greatest writers and the greatest artists tors to its pages, and each of whom or cupies a page every week.

Mayo W. HAZRI was writes the Editoriais There is no living man who sees clearer, thinks straighter, and can charm as be.

EDGAR SALTUS writes "Our Note-Book". The wide scope and brilliant quality of this brilliant writer's mind peculiarly fit him for this function.

JULIAN HAWTHORNS does our "Vitascope." These papers add week by week to the wealth of a reputation al rendy world-wide.

Last, but not least, Engan FAWCRIT, in his "Men, Manners and Moods" finds himself at his best; and that best is unsurpassed by any contemporary author. His social philosophy, his satire, his humor and his poetry constitute him the favorite writer of men and comen of the world.

As for artisis words cannot describe for themselves.

All this for only $4.00 x year, parable 50 cents a month. On cecaist of your order the paper will be sent you for one month; then our collector will call on you for the first payment of $0 cents and he will call for a nimilar shm every month until the $4.00 is paid. In no other way can the money be igrested to secure such returns of intellectual profit and pleasure. Addrses, Collier's Weekly 521 to 549 West Thirteenth Street New York.

A Little Mized in Speech. " Mamma," said little Harold, as he steed by the window one day, "there goes Mrs. Smif wiv an umbersol over his head and his rubber gothamer and it isn't waning. Isn't he a funny woman? I think she are."

A Washington correspondent of the Philadelpnia Telegraph was recently looking at some models in the National Museum of curious cars used in the early days of railroading in this country, when Mr. Watkins, the curator, pointed out one particular one that had a mast and sail. Experiments with such cars were made on the Baltimore & Ohio road and on the South Carolina road. It was then a serious question whether the motive power on railroads would be sail, corse or steam. The steam locomotive was still looked upon as an experiment. Sail cars are used to-day on a guano railroad on the island of Malden, in the south Pacific. They are, in fact, used nearer home than that, for railroad men at Barnegat beach, when the wind is favorable, frequently ride over the road on con struction cars-sloop-rigged. 'The wind has a good deal to do with railroading even to-day," Mr. Watkins said. If you go to the burgau or train, any from New York, is likely to be on time, you may be informed that it is likely to be four or five minutes late, because there is a strong wind from the west. Winds make considerable difference in the runming time of trains
